

4

Things You Need to Know to Be a Successful Instructional Designer

Think of a Learner-centric Design

Have knowledge about your learners and their requirements and then design your course. This can help you shape up an effective e-learning course

Focus on the Content

Try to enhance and make the content interesting and relatable to learners.

Design and Redesign

The best design is achieved only after "n" iterations. So don't hesitate to scrap elements which can create problems for the learner. Ensure the eLearning content benefit the learner.

Solve a Problem

Apply instructional design concepts based on learners' challenges. A good design helps fulfill learner learning needs and solves his problems.

