

Types of Learners

You Can Run Into When Imparting Online Training

1

Confident learners

they believe they are capable of anything

2

Overachievers

they seek out information to enhance their knowledge

3

Emotional learners

they want to feel attachment to the course either through the instructor or the content

4

Integrated learners

they have high standards for both themselves and others

5

Unmotivated learners

they lack enthusiasm, never exceed expectations, and are likely to drop courses

6

Risk Takers

they enjoy exploring new ideas and discussing complex questions

7

Surprised learners

they lack self-confidence and usually are unaware of their inability to work independently

8

Motivated learners

they have specific goals and are willing to work hard to overcome any difficulty

9

Dependent learners

they work diligently, frequently ask for help and feel insecure about their answers

10

Experiential learners

they are easily frustrated, have low-self confidence, and often produce low-quality work lacking originality