

L&D INDUSTRY QUICK STATS

Based on a recent report from Brandon Hall Group, compliance training is a huge focus for organizations accountable to outside agencies. As a matter of fact, these organizations depend on this training to implement their business strategies. If you have thoughts to share, we'd love to hear about your experiences!

DID YOU KNOW?

From over 400 companies polled, Compliance Training is the MOST IMPORTANT LEARNING PROGRAM for their business strategies

OUR TAKE

Recently, the for-profit education industry has seen its fair share of federal regulations about how they market to, recruit, charge and support their students. One of the world's largest for-profit universities enlisted Michaels & Associates to help address and communicate the regulations in a way their enrollment, academic and financial advisors—as well as the rest of their support staff—would understand and embrace. Over a two year period, we collaborated with dozens of subject matter experts to design and deliver well over 100 hours of eLearning, self-paced and instructor-led courses. By completing the training, the university's staff was well prepared to meet rigorous regulatory requirements and the unique needs of their students.

Quick Stat Source:

- "The Strategic Potential of Compliance Training." Brandon Hall Group. March 2013.

MICHAELS  ASSOCIATES
Learning Solutions

We've earned our stripes
building custom training for our clients since 1998

CONTACT US:
480-614-8440
mnalearning.com